

Yuzu Oil

ORIGIN AND PRODUCTION

Although this fruit has always been connected to Japan, it is in fact Native to China. However, it is now commercially cultivated (although in relatively small amount) in Western Japan.

Its main purpose is for flavouring applications which can include Confectionery and beverage uses.

The oil is produced as a cold pressed type and is orange to green in colour.

Its odour is a mixture of Grapefruit and Mandarin notes.

TIW stocks Yuzu Oil as a standard product at our Australian Warehouse.
